

Brotherhood Week Near

Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will be observed February 18-25.

Dr. R. F. Poole has appointed a committee to make plans for the observance of Brotherhood Week at Clemson. Dr. S. J. L. Crouch is chairman of the committee. The other members of the committee are Dr. G. H. Aull and Dean F. M. Kinard.

To stimulate the thinking of the student body along the lines of brotherhood, the following program has been planned. The three major religious faiths at Clemson, Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, will each nominate five outstanding living Americans of their own Communion. These fifteen names will be published on a ballot in next week's Tiger. Students will be asked to vote for their number one choice in each of the three groups. The ballots will be collected in the barracks. Results will be published the following week.

President Milton S. Eisenhower of Pennsylvania State College is the national chairman of the schools and colleges committee.

Brotherhood Week has been observed nationally for many years. However, this year will be the first time it has been observed at Clemson.

The purpose of Brotherhood Week is to better relations between the major religious faiths of the nation.

Methodist Student Confab Be Held Here Next Week

Cadet Captain W. T. Andrews, mechanical engineering senior of Greenville, was this week named the cadet of the week by the Commandant's Office.

He was honored, according to Colonel Forrest E. Cookson, for his "excellent service as commander of the company of new freshmen who entered Clemson at the beginning of this semester."

Andrews is on the second battalion staff and is president of IPOAY.

Clemson Graduate Study In Europe

J. N. Young, 1948 graduate in Agricultural economics and rural sociology, has been accepted for an International Rotary Foundation scholarship for study in Europe. He was chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, and capabilities of success.

Young is a native of Ebenezer. He entered Clemson in 1941, but went into the Army Air Force before his graduation. He was stationed in England, France, and then in Germany with the Occupation Forces. While he was in Europe, he was among five hundred Americans selected to study at a university in Switzerland. On his return to this country he re-entered Clemson where he graduated in 1948.

While at Clemson, Young was president of the Y. M. C. A., secretary of Blue Key, a member of the Senior Council, and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

After his graduation from Clemson, he went to the University of Kentucky where he received his M. S. Degree in Rural Sociology.

Horne, Sibley, Ackerman Are Nominated To Fill Vacated Student Body Vice-President's Position

Nominations were held on Tuesday night, February 13, in the Chapel to fill vacancies left in the student body and class officers by mid-year graduation.

The student body vice-presidency, vacated by Maxie Burch when he moved up to the chief executive's post, will be decided among three seniors: B. S. Horne, a pre-forestry major from Charleston; Winston Sibley, a Greenville man studying animal husbandry; and Charles Ackerman, an agriculturist from Cottageville.

Horne, a pre-forestry major from Charleston; Winston Sibley, a Greenville man studying animal husbandry; and Charles Ackerman, an agriculturist from Cottageville.

Bob Machen, a textile manufacturing student who also hails from Greenville, is opposed for the senior council seat. The senior class presidency is a two-way race between John Fahey, an arts and science major from Orangeburg, and Walter A. Pearson, a Greenville mechanical engineering student. Frank Flowers from Darlington, animal husbandry student, is the lone candidate for senior class secretary. Luke Langley of Clemson and Nolan Gardner from Kershaw, textile manufacturing majors, are the opponents for the senior class representative post. For the junior class representative seat, Bob Johnson of Sumter has no opposition. Johnson's major is animal husbandry.

Elections will be held next Tuesday, February 20. Three ballot boxes will be placed strategically over the campus: one in front of second barracks, one in front of the "Y", and one on the quadrangle. Students will present their identification books at the polls, and these books will be stamped after voting. Candidates are reminded that there will be no soliciting of votes within the immediate vicinity of the polls.

Bishop Gravatt To Administer Rites At Sunday Service

The Rt. Rev. John J. Gravatt, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Upper South Carolina of the Episcopal Church, will make his annual visit to Clemson and to Holy Trinity Episcopal Church next Sunday. At the 11:30 service Bishop Gravatt will administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation and will be the preacher. Everyone is invited to attend this service, and those confirmed by Bishop Gravatt in other years or other places are particularly urged to be present.

Bishop Gravatt began his ministry in his native state of Virginia after he had graduated from the University of Virginia and then from the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria. Most of his ministry was spent in that state until he was consecrated Bishop of this Diocese in 1939. At one time, he was minister to Episcopal students at the University of Virginia, and during the first World War, he served as an Army chaplain.

Confirmation is an ancient rite which has been part of the Christian tradition since New Testament times. It is mentioned in the Acts of the Apostles where it is referred to as "the laying on of hands." The rite has had the same essentials through the centuries. The Bishop lays his hands on the heads of those confirmed and prays that the Holy Spirit will strengthen them. Confirmation is administered to those who have been Baptized. In this rite they renew their baptismal promises and are received into full communicant membership in the Church.

At 4:00 p. m. the Bishop will conduct the service of Evening Prayer and will preach in the Church of the Ascension in Seneca.

YMCA Councils Elect Officers For Term

A deputation from Converse College will start things off this term when they present the program at vespers Sunday night only. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these vespers services for fellowship and inspiration.

Saturday Last Day To Add Courses

Saturday, February 17, is the last day on which students may add courses to their programs for the second semester. Students who still have to make program adjustments involving the addition of courses should report immediately (Friday, February 16) to Room 19, Main Building to secure add cards.

The addition of courses must be approved by the student's class adviser and the card returned to Room 19 by noon February 17.

Students may continue to drop courses through the first four weeks of classes ending on March 3. A course dropped after the first four weeks of classes is recorded as "withdrawn passing" or "withdrawn failing," depending upon the student's grade in the course at the time the subject is dropped.

'Y' Membership Drive Begins Here March 5

The Clemson Y. M. C. A. will begin its annual membership and finance campaign on Monday, March 5. At this time, students who wish to contribute to any phase of Y. M. C. A. work will be given the opportunity to do so.

ROTC Training Proves To Be Valuable In Korea

By Major William E. Smith
Only six short months ago I left Clemson, after completing a very enjoyable tour of duty with the Military Department. Although scheduled for a short stay in Okinawa, the Korean crisis made it necessary for many of us to be diverted to the fighter front.

The latter part of August, several officer-replacements, including myself, arrived in Pusan. At this time the North Korean Army was practically defeated. After the Chinese intervention it was necessary to withdraw certain U. N. units for tactical reasons, while others were pushed back by a determined enemy.

Everyone now is fully aware that we are fighting no second rate army. They are well trained in the particular type of warfare in the particular type of warfare they insist upon pursuing. Briefly, the enemy is unpredictable. They are always attack where least expected. They are past masters at night-fighting at night and during daylight, effectively use refugees to screen their advance. Everyone must be on the alert at all times. The Communist forces place little value on human lives, and attack in waves, one immediately behind the other, usually for the high ground. Then they either push through or go around the flanks to surround the unit.

American soldiers are fighting under conditions as adverse as any United States forces have encountered since Valley Forge. We have had to adjust ourselves to living in the rain, mud, snow, and ice at temperatures far below zero.

I am happy to report that our Post War ROTC Clemson graduates have proven themselves in combat and performed far beyond our expectations. First Lieutenants Hays and Kitcher, class of '49, are in this regiment; have also seen Lieutenant Font, class of '48 who is doing well.

Those of us here who have recently been associated with the Post War ROTC program are fully convinced that it is sound. This conflict has brought out no new principles. The test is being able to intelligently apply those principles to the particular situation at hand. The situation at times has been so critical that the actions of one single platoon or squad may virtually have affected the whole command.

With the world situation what it is today, there is no doubt that many members of the advanced ROTC will find themselves second lieutenants in the army very soon.

Therefore, I would recommend that everyone spend his time wisely and learn as much as possible while there is still a cushion of time. Particular emphasis should be placed on weapons and their capabilities, small unit tactics, adjustments of artillery and mortar fire, map reading, first aid and hygiene, living in cold weather and above all leadership — learn how to handle men. The newly commissioned lieutenant must have the knowledge, the confidence in himself and the determination to make a success.

Those of us here in Korea are proud to be members of this huge U. N. Army that has taken a stand against Communism. We must all continue our efforts and prevent Communistic aggression upon the United States and thereby preserve our way of life.

I send my regards and best wishes to all and particularly to the Infantry Seniors who were in my class last year. Some day I hope I'll be fortunate in having many of you in my organization.

Let's keep the CLEMSON SPIRIT going.

Houston Symphony Orchestra Will Appear At Clemson Tomorrow Night

Kappa Phi Kappa To Get Charter Saturday

The Clemson College Concert Series will present the Houston Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Efrem Kurtz tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in the Field House. Ania Dorfman, piano virtuosa, will appear as soloist.

The program for the concert is: Tschalkowsky, Romeo and Juliet Overture. Mendelssohn, Piano Concerto in G Minor No. 1. Intermission. Franck, Symphony in D Minor.

The Houston Symphony Orchestra, founded in 1923, has been directed by many distinguished conductors. In 1948, Efrem Kurtz, then conductor of the Kansas City Philharmonic, was appointed musical director and conductor. Commissioned to reorganize the orchestra and to recruit the finest musicians available, Mr. Kurtz assembled a roster of virtuosi well known in their profession. The orchestra is composed of 82 members.

Efrem Kurtz has led major orchestras on six continents. Since his debut with the Berlin Philharmonic in the 1920's, he has conducted at the Salzburg Festival and for Pavlova on her continental tours; he directed the famous Ballet Russe in Paris and during its first glamorous years in America; and has directed the music for Orson Welles' screen production of "Macbeth." Since 1937, Mr. Kurtz has served as guest conductor with major orchestras of the nation including Toscanini's NBC Symphony Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra with which he has made many recordings, and the San Francisco, Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago orchestras.

Ania Dorfmann is the only woman instrumentalist to have played under the baton of Arturo Toscanini. She is also the first soloist to appear with a symphony orchestra at Clemson.

Single admission tickets for the concert may be obtained from the President's Office.

Democratic Rights Are Not Used; You Too Can Be A Ball Player

GARBAGE ON THE FRONT

Pull in the colors, batten down the hatches, and secure everything that moves, 'cause I'm opening up with both barrels. There aren't going to be but two or three subjects but the first two should furnish sufficient material for the rest of this column.

It seems that this first little subject has been hit once before by a friend of mine that wrote this column before me, and perhaps a little competent—namely Bill Chamness. But I'll not beat around the bush any longer, so here goes.

On my many trips to and from the P. O. I have seen practically every day, including Sunday, an unsightly trash can brimming with debris and rubbish, sitting right at the foot of the steps by the front of the Y. You probably know where I'm talking about. As a matter of fact, most of the old papers and discarded "love letters" that should be in the can are strewn all around it and really goes to make the campus pretty—you know, in a Christmas tree sort of fashion; just as you would hang icicles or throw them on one. But wait a minute, Christmas is over (that's what I've heard).

I can easily see why most of the trash is on the ground instead of in the can, but why is the can in the front of the Y? Passersby probably try their luck at ringing the goal as they go hastily to and from the P. O. In the first place the can is not an unusual can—it serves the same function as all other true trash cans—to put rubbish in. This particular one seems to be serving, at present, as an ornament. It's dirty enough now at the foot of those steps; so, people, please deposit your trash in the can.

Now about the other matter concerning this poor old trash can. What is it doing sitting in about the most public place on the campus? I used to think that people usually put these garbage cans near an alley or something behind their house. Maybe before long the modern trend will be to have your garbage cans placed in special racks in the living room. Then you could sit them on the front steps to be emptied, just as you put the milk bottles out to get them refilled. In the long run, it might save you a little extra labor.

Here is what I'm saying, in a nutshell. It all boils down to this. How would you like to have a nice big dirty garbage can sitting on your front porch or on your lawn? It wouldn't look very nice, would it? Besides it would be most unsanitary. This trash can at the Y is not more than fifteen or twenty feet from the swimming pool and if any harmful bacteria or germs were to get into the pool it wouldn't be so nice. Then you say even if it were possible, the chemicals in the water would kill them. My friends,

Platter Chatter . . . .

By Stan Kohn

Ever since Saturday night I've been listening to all amounts of people throw orchids to the C. D. A. for having such a wonderful dance. I spent my last quarter buying back my overcoat from the Block C, so I can't afford orchids, but I can verify the unworried appreciation of the hundreds that were at the Midwinters Ball. To Bill Brown and cohorts: "Thanks for bringing us Charlie Barnett."

And now for that double-play combination of Charlie Barnett to Stan to you. Most of you have heard about the Barnett with Strings group. Well, I heard one of their latest recordings, "Thanks to Charlie Barnett. Aren't We All" features both the smooth sounding strings and the voice of Bill Derry. The flip side is "Theme for Cynthia, an instrumental featuring eight violins voiced with Charlie's soprano sax in another new sound. This Strings group doesn't travel, it only records. Charlie says that the value of the Strings would be lost away from a recording studio. He's even had electronics men work out special amplifying systems for the recordings.

Mr. Barnett says that the best thing he's ever recorded was "Rhapsody in Blue, which we all enjoyed at the dance. It was never released, however, because of disagreement by the Gershwin estate. His biggest moneymaker was "Cherokee. And Charlie's favorite musician is Duke Ellington.

Mr. Barnett got his nickname, The Mab, (I don't think he's very proud of it) from the title of a song he wrote and recorded, "Wild Mab of the Fish Pond."

I was very glad to get a chance to talk to Charlie Barnett. He's loaded with personality, and the band members are so very friendly. "There's a lot of water under the bridge since I last played here," said Charlie. He played the Midwinters Ball here in 1941 ten years ago this week.

And for you cats that were ogling the vocalist—she's Adele Francis, a newcomer to the dance band circuit on the east coast. She's been with Barnett only two weeks, but she's well-known on Sunset Strip in L. A. and before that in Hollywood, her hometown. The other voice was Bill Derry, who has been with Barnett for about a year. And that's where we heard about him. He vocals with the Barnett with Strings group, too.

And for the other guys in the band, some are new, some old, and we've heard of some of them before. On trumpet was Al Del-you're all wrong. Even boiling water doesn't kill some germs. Why couldn't the can be put behind the Y with the rest? It's very unsanitary and it might help the looks around the Y and P. O. at the same time. What about it?

REPRESENTATION?

Last Tuesday night the student body was supposed to have met in the chapel for the purpose of nominating a student body vice-president. There were also some junior and senior class offices that had to be filled. I just want to warn the seniors and juniors and student body in general: when these men are elected, there shouldn't be the first "peep" out of anyone.

There were exactly twenty people at the meeting, including the president of the student body, secretary, nominating chairman, etc. Seniors comprised most of the group—I think there were about eleven or twelve. There were about five or six juniors. I don't mind saying that these nominees were "railroaded in" either because of inadequate representation from the classes. According to the constitution, this is perfectly fair and is in direct accordance with it.

Fortunately enough, the ones nominated, in my estimation, happened to be very capable men and the ones elected will no doubt show their fitness for office. Still, if your man didn't get in the race you can be sure that it's all your fault. It cannot honestly be said that no one knew of the nomination either because someone saw to it that posters were put on about every tree and telephone post on the campus.

Just remember this, there shouldn't be any complaints from anyone about the nominees—they were chosen fairly and squarely. The representation was the poorest that I have ever seen. Maybe Tuesday night was an unusually busy night for some, but still, every class fell down on the job. It's a good thing that St. Peter wasn't there to take all the ones that showed up through the "Pearly Gates" or a lot of people would have been left out.

The point is this, how can we expect to have a good student government machine when no one is adequately represented, when no interest is shown, etc. How can we ever expect it to amount to anything without our support? How can we ever expect them to accomplish anything for us or for the college? How can we expect it to grow or last?

I'll say now what someone before me has already said, again—"Are we going to do something about this situation or are we just going to sit back again as has been done before and let it fizzle out?" Student body, it's our civic duty to support them!

Conduct At Movies May Cause Resrictions; Clean Up The Mess

By: "Doc" Baker

During the last three late shows down town, in succession, some ill-bred, despicable, inconsiderate "meathead" has tried to amuse himself and a few of his cohorts by acting "cute". Unfortunately, the nature of the incident can't be intimidated; however, anyone there knows the grey matter knows the non-necessity of the affair.

Were there a servant scene, a moderate amount of comment or noise could be understood. Under any circumstances, a few things could be understood. However, under no circumstances can these obscene acts be anywhere near feasible.

The guilty persons are a minor group. It is indeed unfortunate that they should disgrace themselves in a decent atmosphere. Furthermore, since those concerned have no self-respect, is it asking too much that you let your brains be unvacuumated enough to have some feeling for those around you?

To begin with, the local theatre goes to extra trouble scheduling movies in order that the cadets can see them as often as possible. They go to further woes selecting pictures of interest to Clemson students. The prices are kept at a minimum in interest of the short-change existing among the scholars.

The Commandant's office has been reasonable in allowing hours for recreation. They have even given certain privileges for cadets to see particular reels.

The acts which have prevailed at the last three late shows were not at all humorous. Not only will the theatre's management crack down, the disciplinary department will crack down.

This is an appeal to the thoughtless individuals NOT TO REPEAT THE THING AGAIN.

Secondly, it is an appeal to those present, to report such activity. These people aren't bringing disgrace to themselves. They are heaping unfavorable attitudes on the Clemson students collectively and individually. Then, too, any harsh measures taken will handicap the innocent as well as the guilty. It is your duty to protect your own interests and your comrades' interests as much, even more, than the school's interest.

CAMPUS OR TRASH HEAP??

The processes necessary to erect the new buildings and equipment over the campus have temporarily marred the natural beauty of the school. In place of these distractions, the college will have beautiful, new buildings to add to its grace.

This temporary distractfulness isn't enough. The grounds and buildings (inside and out) are covered with candy wrappings, cigarette packages and butts, delapidated notes and plain old trash paper.

The cigarette stubbs are supposed to be field stripped before disposal. This prevents a fire hazard as well as adding to the ease of preserving tidiness. Cadet officers and NCO's are supposed to set an example as well as carry out the order.

I have yet to see one strip a cigarette butt. I have never seen one, single demerit given for violation of this. I have seen many and practically all ranks throwing refuse on the yards or floors.

Trash cans are placed at various, convenient points to receive rubbish. To add insult to injury, the door to the basement of the physics building (where the majority of the MS classrooms are located) has a trash receptor hanging in plain view. The area surrounding this trash can is littered with numerous sizes of weed-leftovers.

The military "Wheels" crack down on trash on occasions, however, it is always in the barracks. In fact, I've seen the little boys hiding, mind you, hiding, behind ventilators on the Mess Hall roof in an attempt to catch someone tossing articles from his window. Trash is trash! Why should they hide at night, when all they have to do is stop throwing the stuff all over the campus in the daytime and make a feeble attempt to stop some of the others?

Letters To Tom Clemson

Dear Tom, Clemson students have again added honor to the name Clemson. Because of their interest and concern, with no administrative coercion (and only accidental pressure at first) they turned out for the Religious Emphasis Conventions each day last week. The visiting leaders commented, with amazement, that students in a state college, of their own free will, turned out repeatedly for religious services. On the basis of the enrollment in the college, the turnout was probably the best we have ever had. The chapel was practically full every day. Student support of the other phases of the emphasis was good also. The forums and the denominational activities gave the men more intimate opportunities for consideration of religious values, and they took them! The Religious Emphasis Committee realizes that student response is a chief measure of the value of the Week. The unusually fine, even for Clemson, personal participation by the students this year is

Tigs Lose 2 By 1 Point; Deacons Here Tonight

Davidson Wins Friday Night Tilt, 56-55;
Wake Forest Edges Bengals In Overtime

Clemson's Tiger quintet lost their first game in the last six encounters when they fell to the Davidson Wildcats last Friday night at the Johnston gymnasium in Davidson by the score of 56-55.

Clemson took the lead at the first of the game and led at half-time by the score of 27-19. The North Carolina boys came back strong to tie the game up after four minutes had elapsed in the second half. The remainder of the game was an exciting see-saw battle until the final whistle had sounded.

The Tigers missed more of their long shots than in previous games as they hit only 29% of their attempts. Coach McFadden expressed that one of the reasons for the loss was due to faulty ball handling.

Doug Haugk was the offensive standout for the Clemson team as he netted 18 points, using his push and lay up shots effectively. Robinson followed with 10 markers while McGraw and Snee paced with 9 points each.

Haller, Davidson forward, was definitely the offensive star for the Wildcats as he bucketed 21 points. Hengeveld followed in the scoring with 12 points to his credit.

Summary:
Clemson (55)—Haugk 18, McCollough 2, Robinson 10, Hicks, McGraw 9, Richardson 2, Snee 9, Moorer 7, Murray.
Davidson (56)—Brooks 4, Graham 4, Haller 21, Fitzgerald 1, Proctor 10, Lazenby 2, Hengeveld 12, McLean 2.
Halftime score: Clemson 27, Davidson 19.

WAKE WINS, 73-72
A hard-fighting Tiger quintet was edged 73 to 72 in a nip-and-tuck overtime meet with Wake Forest's Demon basketballers. It took a last chance goal by a substitute guard to top the Tigs. Coach Banks McFadden said that the team turned in one of their top performances of the season, even in defeat. The Country Gentlemen were leading 72 to 71 with twenty seconds to go in an overtime period. This was the second consecutive game that the Clemson boys had been defeated by a single point.

Normal Muller, Wake Forest's man on the spot, sank the winning fieldgoal for the Deacons. The Tigers had overtaken a ten point Wake Forest lead in the second half and were leading 72 to 71.

Doug Haugk led the Clemson netters in scoring with 24 points, followed by set shot artist, John Snee, with 13. Snee's average slumped as he found some difficulty in finding the range. Starring on defense for the South Carolinians were Jack Neel, Tommy McCollough, and George Spender.

Brooks took Wake Forest's scoring laurels with 24 points, closely chased by Najeway with 11, and Geary with 9 tallies. Haugk of Clemson and Brooks of Wake Forest shared high point honors for the evening.

The Bengals are home tonight in a return engagement with the Deacons. Now resting in seventh place in the Southern Conference standings with a 5-3 loop record, the Tigers must win at least two of the remaining five tilts to qualify for the Southern Conference tourney, to be held March 1, 2, and 3 in Raleigh. A win tonight would edge Clemson ever closer to that berth.

Clemson (72) Haugk 24, McCollough, Robinson 9, Hicks 2, McGraw 14, Richardson 2, Snee 13, Neel, Moorer 5, Murray 9, Townsend 4, Spender.

Wake Forest (73) Kotecki 8, Najeway 11, Mason 5, Bennett 4, McCotter 7, Corey, Brooks 24, Muller 2, Mueller 3, Geary 9.
Halftime score: Clemson 26, Wake Forest 32.

Track Team To Enter Chapel Hill Meet; 35 Freshmen Report

The Clemson College track team will, at least in part, begin its 1951 track season on Saturday, February 24, when Coach Rock Norman plans to take some of his cindermen to Chapel Hill, N. C., for the indoor track meet to be held there.

At present there are only three men who are almost sure to make the trip, Bob Hudson, Jackie Calvert, and Angel Rivera, but Coach Norman said that he would take anyone who appeared to be in good enough shape.

Calvert will run in the 60 yard dash, Hudson will also run in the 60 and throw the shot put, and Rivera will enter in the broad jump.

Coach Norman also plans to take some of his thin clads to Gainesville on the last day of March for the Florida Relays, if his men are in good shape.

The Coach said that as far as he could see his men were coming along all right and should be in fine fettle by the start of time trials in April. He also said that the freshman began working out Monday with about 35 boys reporting.

SPORTFACTS IN FOCUS

By DOC BAKER

CONE FOR TEAGUE AWARD

The latest report from High Point, N. C., stated that Fred Cone was one of two remaining in the race for the Teague award. The other candidate was Timmy Thomas, University of North Carolina swimming ace.

Should Fred win the award, it would be a fitting climax to his athletic prowess at Clemson. It would be symbolic of the type play and sportsmanship he has exhibited.

The Teague award goes to the outstanding athlete in the two Carolina's. The decision is made by polls in which coaches and sports writers mail in their ballots. The last time a Clemson man won the honor was in 1940 when Banks MacFadden walked away with it.

HOW DIVING IS SCORED

After Clemson's swimming team got off to a fine start this year, I was wondering how many people were familiar with the scoring methods used at collegiate meets.

All meets are regulated by the NCAA rules. Scoring takes place at a 5-3-1 ratio. The exception to this lies in the relays. A medley relay (three strokes and three swimmers) gives the winners five points to the loser's none. The 400 yard relay (four swimmers, free-style) donates the winners seven points to the losers none.

Diving is a little more complicated to figure. The NCAA Rules Committee passes upon the degree of difficulty in executing the dive. This may vary from 1.1 to 2 in value. Next, the dives are divided into groups. One of these groups, the compulsory group, has five dives taken from it. Each entrant draws a dive from a hat. He must do that dive during the meet.

The remaining seven dives come from five groups and are optional to the diver. They are recorded along with their numerical value. The five groups are: gainer, twist, back, cutaway and somersault. Most of them can be performed in three manners: lay out, pike or tuck.

After the diver picks his dives, he does them from the board. He is judged in performance by two or usually three judges. These judges give him a grade between one and ten. The grades are totaled, multiplied by the numerical value of the dive (1.1 to 2) and divided by three. The result is the number of points earned by the plunging swimmer.

According to the number of points he receives, the diver is placed in the event; first, second, third, etc. Then the results can be entered on the team points. Five points for a first place, three points for a second place, and one point for a third place.

Perhaps this bit of information will assist some of the spectators in enjoying the next swimming meet.

BUCK GEORGE WORKS WITH GRIDSTERS

Buck George, outstanding back for Rock Hill High School last year, is currently enrolled in the local high school and is participating in spring workouts with the regular footballers.

Next fall, Buck is scheduled to enroll at Clemson. With the new Conference Rule allowing freshmen to enter into varsity competition, George could become a highly valuable man in the Tiger backfield.

Bengals Begin Baseball Work; Pitchers, Catchers Hold Drills

Tigers Will Play Opener On March 26

Baseball arrived on the Clemson athletic scene last Monday for the first time this year. Eighteen men answered Coach Walter Cox's call to pitchers and catchers.

Included among the turnouts were six lettermen—five pitchers and one catcher. The remainder of the hopefuls were either returnees from last year's campaign or members of 1950's freshman squad.

The veterans who reported for the first day drills were Dick Hendley, the only letterman catcher; Bob Hughes and Bill Ford, southpaws; and Roger Baker, "Nig" Griffith, and Hugh Kea, all righthanders.

Coach Cox stated that for the first few days, running and other exercise would be stressed. Pepper games have taken up the rest of the time during the initial drills.

The Tiger mentor also said that if good weather continues to prevail, he may issue a call, within the next two weeks, to the remainder of the squad to report. However, he said his plans for the pre-season drills depend upon the progress which the pitchers make during the next week or two.

440 yard free style: Winder, (USC); Glinck, (C); and Smith, (USC). Time 6:04.9.
Diving: Kirkpatrick, (C), and Lamb, (USC).
400 yard relay: forfeited by USC.

Carolina Swimmers Fall To Bengal Tankmen, 48-26

Coach C. M. McHugh and his water-loving Tigers tucked away their second victory in as many starts Saturday when they defeated South Carolina 48-26 in the University pool.

The Gamecocks forfeited the 300 yard medley relay, the opening event, to give the Tigers a lead they never relinquished. Some of the races were thrilling with photo finishes. Lamb, South Carolina backstroke, set a new pool record in the 200 yard backstroke. In the 50 yard free style affair, Converse led Bee by inches. They were first and second, respectively. The 440 yard free style dash found Klink of Clemson becoming confused on the number of laps. Klink, thinking he was to swim 181-2 laps, rather than 17 laps and 15 feet, missed his final burst of speed. Winder, Carolina's highest scorer, picked up on the closing lap and edged the pacing Bengal by a few feet.

Bee, although he didn't take a first place, was the high scorer for Clemson with six points.

The summary:
300 yard medley relay: forfeited by USC.

50 yard free style: Converse, (B); Bee, (C); and Robinson, (USC). Time: 25.4.

100 yard free style: Winder, (USC); Bee, (C); and Kirsch, (C). Time: 59.2.

200 yard breaststroke: Atkinson, (C); Monroe, (C); and Werta, (USC). Time 3:00.8.

220 yard free style: Winder, (USC); White, (C); and Klink, (C). Time 2:35.0.

200 yard backstroke: Lamb, (USC); Taylor, (C); and Weinberg, (C). Time 2:41.0.

We'll take the

THEY'RE both good basketball players. But if we were to judge them the way we judge telephone equipment, we'd take the small one.

You see, telephone equipment occupies valuable space, uses costly materials. Paring down its size helps keep down the cost of telephone service.

Take voice amplifiers, for example. Telephone engineers put the squeeze on size, came up with a new small type. When 600 of these new amplifiers are mounted on a frame two feet wide and eleven feet high, they do a job which once required a roomful of equipment. Size was cut—but not performance!

This is one of many cases where the Bell System has made big things small to help keep the cost of telephone service low.
